This file contains Architects, Draftsmen, Surveyors at Home Address with a select of Mail Order Buyers. Architects create the overall aesthetic and look of buildings and other structures. Architects may be involved in all phases of a construction project, from the initial discussion with the client through the entire construction process. Architects' duties require specific skills - designing, engineering, managing, supervising, and communicating with clients and builders. Architects spend a great deal of time explaining their ideas to clients, construction contractors, and others. Successful architects must be able to communicate their unique vision persuasively.

The architect and client discuss the objectives, requirements, and budget of a project. In some cases, architects provide various pre-design services: conducting feasibility and environmental impact studies, selecting a site, preparing cost analysis and land-use studies, or specifying the requirements the design must meet. After discussing and agreeing on the initial proposal, architects develop final construction plans that show the building's appearance and details for its construction. Architects may also assist clients in obtaining construction bids, selecting contractors, and negotiating construction contracts.

Draftsmen prepare technical drawings and plans, which are used to build everything from manufactured products such as toys, toasters, industrial machinery and spacecraft to structures such as houses, office buildings, and oil and gas pipelines. Draftsmen's drawings provide visual guidelines and show how to construct a product or structure. Draftsmen's drawings include technical details and specify dimensions, materials, and procedures. Draftsmen fill in technical details using drawings, rough sketches, specifications, and calculations made by engineers, surveyors, architects, or scientists.

Surveyors measure distances, directions, and angles between points and elevations of points, lines, and contours on, above, and below the Earth's surface. In the field, they select known survey reference points and determine the precise location of important features in the survey area using specialized equipment. Surveyors also research legal records, look for evidence of previous boundaries, and analyze data to determine the location of boundary lines. Surveyors are sometimes called to provide expert testimony in court about their work. Surveyors also record their results, verify the accuracy of data, and prepare plots, maps, and reports.
